The Sierra Resource Conservation District has provided this forum to furnish landowners and managers with the latest information available and provide educational material for their use in the management of their property. They work to assist both public and private landowners in becoming better land stewards and direct them to publications and agencies for help in the management of their property.

The SRCD meets once monthly usually on the fourth Monday of each month, 4 to 6pm, in The Clovis Memorial Building

The regular meeting is open to the public.
